

WESTERN WOMEN'S LACROSSE LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIPS

$2⁰⁰

HOSTED BY UC SANTA BARBARA
APRIL 18 - 19, 2009

where does the team end and the player begin?

THE EPIC. This is where unstoppable shots are born. The new Brine Epic. The sidewall design puts the pocket right where elite players want it, higher up on the head. So your release is quicker and your shots have a lot more speed. Because harder shots equal more goals, simple as that. The Epic will make you a stronger player. And that will make your 11 sisters a stronger team.

WWLL Championships Land in Santa Barbara

Two Divisions to Compete for Twin Titles on UCSB Campus

UC Santa Barbara is hosting the Western Women's Lacrosse League Championships for the first time since 1992. The event title is plural because there are two divisions of teams competing for twin titles. Thirteen teams play in WWLL Division I and ten teams play in WWLL Division II. An additional seven teams competed as Provisional Members this year and hope to join the league as Full Members in 2010. That's a total of 30 teams competing in the league.

The WWLL is the original collegiate women's lacrosse league in the western United States. It started in 1991 and the first champion was UCSB. Other leagues have sprung up since then but none compare to the original. More WWLL teams populate the WDIA Top 25 every year than those from any other league. The WWLL has put more teams in WDIA National Championship Tournaments than any other league. WWLL member institution Cal Poly SLO has won the WDIA National Championship 7 out of the last 8 years.

Often overlooked is the service the WWLL has done for women's lacrosse in the western United States. The NCAA Division I teams at UC Berkeley, UC Davis, St. Mary's and Stanford, that now compete in the Mountain Pacific Sports Federation, all got their start as clubs in the WWLL. The NCAA Division III teams at Claremont, Pomona-Pitzer, Redlands and Whittier similarly first came together as WWLL teams. Another team is changing associations now with Occidental leaving the WWLL to go NCAA DIII in 2010. But with plenty of teams starting up all the time and clammering to join the league the WWLL will be around for a long time. That's nine teams that got their start in the WWLL and moved elsewhere but twenty-nine still in it.

Props to the Referees

Nine officials are covering games at these championships. They are Heather Conger, Reka Lal, Susana McDermott, Scot Mehl, Steve Najera, Warner Orr, Courtney Reidarson, Jan Stanke and Bill Vickery. The referees have been assigned to games by lead official Scot Mehl. It's a great group to have together so we're thankful they're all here.
